Safety

Never attempt to disassemble your phone. You alone are responsible for how you use your phone and any consequences of its use.

As a general rule, always switch off your phone wherever the use of a phone is prohibited. Use of your phone is subject to safety measures designed to protect users and their environment.

Do not use your phone in damp areas (bathroom, swimming pool...). Protect it from liquids and other moisture.

Do not expose your phone to extreme temperatures lower than - 10°C and higher than + 55°C.

The physicochemical processes created by chargers impose temperature limits when charging the battery. Your phone automatically protects the batteries in extreme temperatures.

Do not leave your phone within the reach of small children (certain removable parts may be accidentally ingested).

Electrical safety: Only use the chargers listed in the manufacturer's catalogue. Using any other charger may be dangerous; it would also invalidate your warranty. Line voltage must be exactly the one indicated on the charger's serial plate.

Aircraft safety: When traveling by plane, you will need to switch your phone off when so instructed by the cabin crew or the warning signs.

Using a mobile phone may be dangerous to the operation of the aircraft and may disrupt the phone network.

Its use is illegal and you could be prosecuted or banned from using cellular networks in the future if you do not abide by these regulations.

Explosive materials: Please comply with warning signs at petrol station asking you to switch your phone off. You will need to comply with radio equipment usage restrictions in places such as chemical plants, fuel depots and at any location where blasting operations are under way.

Electronic equipment: To avoid the risk of demagnetization, do not let electronic devices close to your phone for a long time.

Electronic medical equipment: Your phone is a radio transmitter which may interfere with electronic medical equipment or implants, such as hearing aids, pacemakers, insulin pumps, etc. It is recommended that a minimum separation of 15 cm be maintained between the phone and an implant. Your doctor or the manufacturers of such equipment will be able to give you any advice you may need in this area.

Hospitals: Always make sure that your phone is switched off in hospitals when so instructed by warning signs or by medical staff.

Road safety: Do not use your phone when driving. In order to give your full attention to driving, stop and park safely before making a call. You must comply with any current legislation.

Distance of operation: This phone model has been tested and meets radiofrequency exposure guidelines when used as follows:

- Against the ear: Place or receive a phone call and hold the phone as you would a wire line telephone.
- Body worn: When transmitting, place the phone in a carry accessory that contains no metal and positions the phone a minimum of 2.5 cm from your body. Use of other accessories may not ensure compliance with radiofrequency exposure guidelines. If you do not use a body worn accessory and are not holding the phone at the ear, position the phone a minimum of 2.5 cm from your body.
- Data operation: When using a data feature, position the phone a minimum of 2.5 cm from your body for the whole duration of the data transmission.

Environment

Packaging: To facilitate the recycling of packaging materials, please obey the sorting rules instituted locally for this type of waste.

Batteries: Spent batteries must be deposited at the designated collection points.

The product: The crossed-out waste bin mark affixed to the product means that it belongs to the family of electrical and electronic equipment.

To promote the recycling and recovery of waste electrical and electronic equipment (WEEE) and at the same time safeguard the environment, European regulations require you to obey the sorting rules instituted locally for this type of waste.

4 ActiveSync

4.1 Data synchronization

Some Google applications on your phone (Gmail, Calendar, and Contacts) give you access to the same personal information that you can add, view, and edit on your computer using Google Web applications. This means that when you add, change, or delete your information in any of these applications on the Web, the updated information also appears on your phone, and vice versa. Also, if you lose your phone or if your phone is destroyed, your personal information is not lost and will appear, as before, on a replacement phone.

This mirroring of information happens through over-the-air data synchronization, or data "syncing". Data syncing occurs in the background and shouldn't ever get in your way. You'll know your data is being synchronized when you see this icon in the status bar:

Because sending large amounts of data back and forth over the air can take time and require considerable bandwidth, there are some settings on the phone that allow you to control data sync.

Sync by application

To control synchronization for Gmail, Calendar, and Contacts, you can do the following:

1. On the Home screen, then touch  and select Settings.
2. Select Accounts & sync. When any of the applications are synchronizing, you will see the "sync" icon . You will also see the last time your data was synchronized.
3. By default, the personal information in Gmail, Calendar, and Contacts will sync whenever you make a change or receive a new message. You can change this behavior:
Auto-sync: When selected, Auto-sync will sync Gmail, Calendar, and Contacts automatically, as you make changes or receive new messages. When OFF, information will not be synced automatically, although you can force sync by using the individual application check boxes described below.
Gmail: Clear this check box to exclude Gmail from auto-sync.
Calendar: Clear this check box to exclude Calendar from auto-sync.
Contacts: Clear this check box to exclude Contacts from auto-sync.
4. Sync problems:

If you see this icon  to the left of the sync check box, then there was a temporary problem with the data synchronization. Check your data connection and try again later.

SMS messages are also know as "text" messages and can each be around 160 characters. If you continue to type after the limit is reached, your message will be delivered as one, but count as more than one message. These are called "concatenated" messages.

MMS messages are also known as "multimedia" or "picture" messages and can contain text, picture, audio, and video files.

When you compose a message, the phone will automatically convert a text message into a multimedia message as soon as you add a subject or an attachment, or if you address the message using an email address rather than a phone number.

View the message from the message list

Select a message thread in the list to open it for reading. When open, the individual messages appear stacked on the screen, much like with instant messaging conversations (or chats).

Note that messages you send are also listed in the Read view.

1. Reading multimedia messages

If you have selected to auto-retrieve your multimedia messages, then both the message header and body will download.

If you are downloading only the headers, then you must first select the Download button to retrieve the message body. If you are concerned about the size of your data downloads, you can check the message size before you download.

Once the message has downloaded, select the "play" button to view the message.

4. To add an attachment, press MENU and select 'Attach'. Adding an attachment will always convert the message to a multimedia message. Select from audio or picture files. You can select to take a new picture if you want, or record an audio file. Any recordings you make will be stored automatically in the Music application in a play list named "My recordings". To remove an attachment, select the attachment's 'Remove' button.

5. Type your message. As you type, you'll be able to track how many characters/messages you're creating. Remember that text messages have a limit around 160 characters. Once you go over that limit, a new message is actually created but automatically joined into one when received.

Inbox conversation list

All the Gmail that you fetch to your phone is delivered to your inbox, and the Inbox is your default Gmail view. The total number of unread messages displays in the title bar and individual unread messages display in bold. If you have labeled a message, its label appears in a colored rectangle to the left of the date.

Conversation labels

Organize your email by labeling your conversations. You can filter the conversation list to show only those with a specific label. You can apply as many labels to a conversation as you wish.
