Home Security TV is a light on a timer, Simulates scene and color changes, fades, and on-screen motion. Home Security TV make light same as the light from a HD television. It is constantly changing, and gives the impression of "alive." Home Security TV makes it look like someone is home watching TV.

So buy a Home Security TV and reduce your chance of becoming the next burglary victim.

Burglars always circle a house before entering. Few burglars will enter a home that they think some one is home.

You reduce your odds of a break-in. Thieves have enough time to do their damage before the police arrive. Burglars can cause you much misery in a "smash and grab" robbery. But they are much less likely to attempt such a robbery if they think somebody is home. Home Security TV gives just that impression.

Neither Home Security TV nor any home security system can guarantee you will not have a break in. You should never slack off your security precautions. You still need good locks. But, you can make your home look occupied, and thus improve your odds, for a remarkably modest price, and with no hassle at all.
